FERDINAND DUE IN A FEW WEEKS

Czar of Bulgaria, With Party to Visit United States

Washington, March 12-Czar Ferdinad is coming to the United States.

"The Man Who Would Be King," and was and is king, and what is more czar, is coming to America with Queen Eleanora, the Princess Eudoxia, and many of the leaders of his country. He will arrive part month. He is looking for new ideas. American ideas, for this ruler is the apostle of modern ideas to his people.

There was a time when the world the list moments before soing forth to thought berdinand would never toanything more than "the Man Who war with the Turks among his beloved Would Be King," When the young prince of Saxe-Coburg was considering the offer of the Bulgarian leaders, Bismarck succinetty remarked to him: "Take it, young man, it will always be a pleasant reminiscence."

But it was 27 years ago when Ferdi hand first began to rule the Bulgari ans, and the experience isn'l a reminiscence yet. Every year there are rumers that Perdinand is soing to abdicate; that Ferdinand is going to be assiminated: that Ferdinand is tire-l of his job, or that some power or other is going to give Perdinand the experience of his predecessor, who was practically kidnapped by the Russians. Keeps Closely on the Job.

But every Jan. L. Perdinand is there on hand as usual, werking full office ours, drilling his troops, acheming with his captains of industry, planning new railroads and ports, butriculus in resal fushion, and altogether doing omness at the old stand.

Ferdinand ought to prove intensely steresting to Americans for one thing if for my other. He is the world's stampion trust maker and magnate creator. Ferdinand came in 1887 to ride over what was sometimes called the peasant state. It was a country of rough, capable, self-reliant farmers There was no middle class ones bantel, and no aristocracy, Ferdiand has created these two classes He has caused Bulgarian life to be largely patterned on the rest of En-

Of course rdinand, or somebody, made a gravnistake in starting the second war where Bulgaria tackled Servia and freces and lost almost all she had sined in the first conflict. The suggestion is made that if such thing is possible an amendmen hould be passed authorizing election coards to register voters whose name are not found upon the books so the they may vote at subsequent elections At almost every election, a number a qualified electors have their vote Ulrough failure to register and as the election boards at present have n power to register, the voter cannot b assisted in preparing for subsequen elections.
